What information we collect, use, and why

We collect or use the following information to provide services and goods, including delivery:

- Names and contact details
- Addresses
- Date of birth
- Health information (including dietary requirements, allergies and health conditions)

Lawful bases and data protection rights

Under UK data protection law, we must have a “lawful basis” for collecting and using your personal information. There is a list of possible lawful bases in the UK GDPR. You can find out more about lawful bases on the ICO’s website.

Which lawful basis we rely on may affect your data protection rights which are in brief set out below. You can find out more about your data protection rights and the exemptions which may apply on the ICO’s website:

- Your right of access - You have the right to ask us for copies of your personal information. You can request other information such as details about where we get personal information from and who we share personal information with. There are some exemptions which means you may not receive all the information you ask for. You can read more about this right here.

- Your right to rectification - You have the right to ask us to correct or delete personal information you think is inaccurate or incomplete. You can read more about this right here
- Your right to erasure - You have the right to ask us to delete your personal information. You can read more about this right here
- Your right to restriction of processing - You have the right to ask us to limit how we can use your personal information. You can read more about this right here
- Your right to object to processing - You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data. You can read more about this right here
- Your right to data portability - You have the right to ask that we transfer the personal information you gave us to another organisation, or to you. You can read more about this right here
- Your right to withdraw consent – When we use consent as our lawful basis you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. You can read more about this right here

If you make a request, we must respond to you without undue delay and in any event within one month.

To make a data protection rights request, please contact us using the contact details at the top of this privacy notice.

Our lawful bases for the collection and use of your data

Our lawful bases for collecting or using personal information to provide services and goods are:

- Consent - we have permission from you after we gave you all the relevant information. All of your data protection rights may apply, except the right to object. To be clear, you do have the right to withdraw your consent at any time.
- Legal obligation – we have to collect or use your information so we can comply with the law. All of your data protection rights may apply, except the right to erasure, the right to object and the right to data portability.
- Legitimate interests – we’re collecting or using your information because it benefits you, our organisation or someone else, without causing an undue risk of harm to anyone. All of your data protection rights may apply, except the right to portability. Our legitimate interests are:
 - The reason for collecting this data is to ensure your appointment is carried out safely and to help the massage be tailored to you. It is important to inform me of any medical conditions that may impact the safety of your appointment. And as a holistic service, it is helpful to know about your occupation/lifestyle so I can understand how stress may be impacting the body.

Where we get personal information from

- Directly from you

How long we keep information

I will only keep this information stored for as long as required for your appointment.

How to complain
